Paying for Nursing Home Care

When looking for long-term care or short-term recovery services, it's important to understand what is and isn't covered, and what forms of payment your provider will accept. Below is an overview of Medicare and Medicaid, and you can visit www.agrhodes.org/financial-information for more information about the payer sources we accept. Contact your payer source for more information specific to your situation and coverage plan.

Medicare

Medicare is the federal health insurance program for people who are 65 or older, and for others with certain qualifying conditions. Medicare Part A will cover for a short-term stay and skilled nursing or rehabilitation services such as physical therapy, and will cover some of your costs for up to a maximum of 100 days. A benefit period begins on the day you are admitted, and ends the last day skilled services are received. Medicare beneficiaries may be eligible for new benefit periods after 60 days if qualifying conditions are met.

For the first 20 days, Medicare Part A covers 100 percent of your costs (daily room rate plus covered ancillary charges) if you meet all qualifying conditions. For days 21 through 100, you pay your own expenses up to $200 coinsurance per day (as of 2023), and Medicare covers any balance. Some private supplemental insurances will cover the co-insurance amount. You pay 100 percent of costs for each day you stay after day 100.

Medicare does not cover non-skilled assistance with Activities of Daily Living (ADL), which make up the majority of long-term care services. For more information, visit www.medicare.gov, or call the Social Security Administration at 1-800-772-1213 if you have questions regarding Medicare eligibility.

Medicaid

Medicaid is a joint federal and state program that helps with medical costs for some people with limited income and resources. Medicaid also offers benefits not normally covered by Medicare, like long-term nursing home care and personal care services. Medicaid covers the largest share of long-term care services, but to qualify, your income must be below a certain level and you must meet minimum state eligibility requirements. Such requirements are based on the amount of assistance you need with ADL, among other qualifications.

Individuals may apply for Medicaid at any local Department of Family and Children Services (DFCS) office by mail, telephone, email, fax or at designated agencies. If you receive Supplemental Security Income (SSI) through the Social Security Administration, you will automatically receive Medicaid. Any person receiving SSI must ensure they have proper Medical Treatment Facility Medicaid which generally requires a Medicaid application.

Once a person enters one of our nursing homes with Medicaid or the intent of applying for Medicaid, their monthly liability is due to A.G. Rhodes. Liability amounts typically equal income minus $70 for a resident's personal use. The fiduciary party and/or the resident is responsible for making the liability payment to A.G. Rhodes in order for Medicaid to apply payment towards the resident's health care services. Be prepared to promptly apply for Medicaid so that fees for provided services are up to date.

For more information, visit www.medicicaid.gov or the Georgia Department of Community Health, which administers the Medicaid program in Georgia, at www.dch.georgia.gov/medicaid.
