MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES AND THE CEO

Dear Friends,

It's a milestone year for A.G. Rhodes: 2024 marks our 120th anniversary! From our humble beginnings, A.G. Rhodes has become a healthcare staple in the Atlanta community, and we've become a name synonymous with exceptional senior care. You'll see that as you look through these pages of highlights from 2023.

Over the last 120 years, A.G. Rhodes has emerged as a national thought leader for our innovative approaches to care, including person-directed care. We continue to demonstrate that we don't just meet expectations; we exceed them. We offer some of the most distinctive programming and services available in both short-term rehabilitation and long-term care, including nationally recognized programs like Horticultural Therapy and Music Therapy, onsite dialysis clinics, intergenerational programming, unique activities and events, and much more.

As we celebrate our milestone anniversary, we also celebrate the grand opening of our new skilled nursing and memory care community which redefines what it means to grow older, particularly for those living with dementia. We have transformed our A.G. Rhodes Cobb campus into a community that combines the principles of person-directed care with an environment and accommodations that we all desire and deserve as we age. Among other improvements, our new community affords each resident staying at A.G. Rhodes Cobb private room accommodations, something that Medicaid – which most of our residents rely on – does not cover. But thanks to you, our generous community, these accommodations are accessible to those who are uninsured, underinsured and underserved, and it serves as a model that can be replicated throughout Atlanta, Georgia, and across the nation.

A.G. Rhodes continues to be one of the only mission-driven nonprofit nursing home providers in Georgia, and we know that at the heart of our mission and long-standing tradition of excellence is our steadfast commitment to people: to the people we serve and their families, and to the compassionate Care Partners who work at A.G. Rhodes. And our mission is possible thanks to supporters and friends like you who continue to invest in the future of an organization that has demonstrated for 120 years its commitment to upholding the highest standards of excellence.

Thank you for your ongoing support and generosity,

David L. Perdue
Chair, Board of Trustees

CELEBRATING 120 YEARS OF CARE

A.G. Rhodes is proud to celebrate 120 years of delivering compassionate care to seniors throughout metro Atlanta.

A Remarkable Legacy

One man's generosity created a remarkable legacy that now spans 120 years.

One of Atlanta's oldest nonprofit organizations

A.G. Rhodes was one of the first nursing organizations to be licensed in Georgia and is currently one of a few nonprofit nursing organizations in the state.

As one of Atlanta's oldest nonprofit organizations, our roots trace back more than a century ago when Atlanta was founded as a settlement around railroads. Amos Giles Rhodes came from Kentucky to Atlanta to work on the railroads, and eventually founded Rhodes Furniture. He donated the land and funds for A.G. Rhodes' first location, which opened in 1904 at the corner of Boulevard and Woodward Avenue where our flagship location still operates today.

Thanks to generous community support which has enabled our mission and reputation as a provider of choice for 120 years, A.G. Rhodes has expanded and now operates three locations serving more than 1,100 seniors each year in Fulton, Cobb and DeKalb counties.

A.G.Rhodes 120 YEARS OF CARE

1875 Amos Giles Rhodes comes to Atlanta while laying crossties for the L&N Railroad. Soon after, he founds a small furniture company which later becomes Rhodes Furniture.

1904 Construction is complete, and the hospital reopens at its new location at the corner of Boulevard and Woodward, where today's flagship home is located.

1897 The Hospital of the Atlanta Circle of the King's Daughters and Sons is founded on Church Street (now Carnegie Way).

1900 Hospital officials ask Mr. Rhodes for funding to make repairs but instead he provides land and funds needed for a new building and location.

1911 The Hospital's name is changed to The Home for Incurables Association.

1930

In conjunction with a major renovation, the home is renamed after Mr. Rhodes who passed away two years earlier.

1974

Modernization of A.G. Rhodes Atlanta.

1992

A.G. Rhodes opens Cobb home.

1997

The organization changes its name from The A.G. Rhodes Homes to A.G. Rhodes Health & Rehab, and the Atlanta location is renovated to include a state-of-the-art therapy gym.

A.G. RHODES
HEALTH & REHAB

A.G. Rhodes opens Wesley Woods home.

2010

The Board of Trustees changes the management responsibilities of the organization by creating a nonprofit company to oversee the already established, nonprofit homes.

2011

A.G. Rhodes continues to expand its sub-acute and rehabilitation services at its Cobb and Wesley Woods locations.

2012

A.G. Rhodes begins offering horticultural therapy and music therapy. Also in 2014, the Board of Managers changes its name to The Board of Advisors.

2014

2016

2018

All three homes are accepted into the Eden Alternative Registry, making A.G. Rhodes the first standalone nursing home organization in Georgia with this status.

After exploring ways to improve its model of care, especially for people living with dementia, A.G. Rhodes enters a partnership with the Eden Alternative to train and educate staff in person-directed care.

2019

The organization rebrands to better align with its focus on person-directed care. A.G. Rhodes' core mission hasn't changed but the way it is delivering services has evolved and improved.

2021

A.G. Rhodes launches its first ever capital campaign to transform its Cobb home.

PRESENT

During its 120th anniversary year, A.G. Rhodes' transformed Cobb campus will offer greater skilled nursing and memory care to the Cobb and metro Atlanta communities.

A LEGACY OF CARE CAMPAIGN SUMMARY

In 2021, at a time of great turmoil in our world and at a time when the nursing home sector especially was struggling with the challenges of COVID-19, A.G. Rhodes launched its A Legacy of Care campaign. This landmark capital effort on our A.G. Rhodes Cobb campus involved planning for a new kind of nursing home community that could be replicated throughout Atlanta and across the nation. We envisioned a community that could better protect its residents from infectious disease; a community that could empower those living with dementia to lead lives of independence and fulfillment; and above all, a community that could keep the human spirit at the heart of everything it does.

Thanks to a vast network of strong community supporters, we met our campaign goals which will significantly change the lives of some of the most vulnerable people in our community.

Scan for more details about the campaign and its results.

Project Overview

The Legacy of Care project includes:

➤ A New Skilled Nursing and Memory Care Community:

Within the new building – the Memory Care Community – elders have private bedrooms surrounded by cozy common areas, in contrast to the shared rooms and long corridors of traditional nursing homes. This new community includes six households, featuring:

- 12 private bedrooms (which can be isolated, as needed)
- Centralized community kitchen
- Dining room for family-style meals
- Sunroom to connect with the outdoors
- Living room with an inviting hearth
- Access to and/or views of outdoor gardens
- Standard infection prevention and control measures, as well as a new ultraviolet light cleaning system, a high-efficiency HVAC system, and industrial-strength humidifiers to reduce airborne transmission of infectious disease

➤ Updates to the existing Cobb building:

- Privatizing all rooms
- Significant infrastructure improvements
- A state-of-the-art rehab center for inpatient and outpatient services
- Renovating and equipping a larger kitchen and dining area to serve the existing and new building

This $37.5 million project was funded through a combination of public and private sources paired with internal financing. We raised more than $7.5 million, or 108% of our $7 million philanthropic goal, including $1.8 million from our Boards of Trustees and Advisors as well as our Honorary Advisors.

A Legacy of Care Campaign Committee

We are grateful for the leadership, expertise, and generosity of the campaign committee. Without them, this project would not have succeeded.

CARING PEOPLE, CARING FOR PEOPLE SINCE 1904

As a mission-driven, nonprofit organization with 120 years serving our community's seniors, A.G. Rhodes has been recognized as a provider and employer of choice. We promote a family-like environment that contributes to lower employee turnover rates and higher staff satisfaction as compared to other long-term care providers. Here are a few updates and spotlights about our compassionate workforce.

Chief Human Resources Officer Mary Helton became the first A.G. Rhodes employee to graduate from and become a Fellow of the highly competitive LeadingAge Larry Minnix Leadership Academy.

Named after former LeadingAge CEO Larry Minnix – who is also an A.G. Rhodes Trustee Emeritus – the Academy's foundation is rooted in reflective practice – developing a deep understanding of one's self, uncovering one's unique leadership attributes, and learning how to stretch and leverage those capacities to have the most impact as leaders.

The Reward of Doing What You Enjoy

Life in the activities department at A.G. Rhodes Wesley Woods keeps Activities Director Farrah Jerome on her toes – literally.

"The Activities Department is fun! The outings, the cooking, the dancing – even the knees hurting after you've danced the whole day."

But it's much more than the activities themselves that Farrah finds rewarding. It's the relationships she forms with the elders, and knowing how meaningful her work is.

"There's something very rewarding when you're making a difference in someone's life, no matter how small it is. Even a simple hello; you'll never know how that hello can transform into something bigger."

LeadingAge Georgia Recognition

Congratulations to Jessie Evans (award holder on left), Dietary Manager at A.G. Rhodes Atlanta, for receiving LeadingAge Georgia's Caring Heart award, and to Patty Comer (award holder on right), Director of Nursing at A.G. Rhodes Wesley Woods, for being recognized as LeadingAge Georgia's 2023 Distinguished Service Award winner.

Top Tech Winner

Angel Rolon, A.G. Rhodes Cobb Director of Environmental Services, won second place at the Georgia Health Care Association's inaugural Top Tech Challenge, a competition for healthcare maintenance professionals to show off their skills by participating in various timed maintenance-related activities.

A.G. Rhodes Care Solutions Offers More Opportunities to Recruit Compassionate Staff

A.G. Rhodes launched A.G. Rhodes Care Solutions, an internal agency staffed by qualified nursing care partners who work at all three locations to fill staffing gaps.

In recent years, the healthcare industry – particularly the nursing home sector – has faced significant workforce challenges that have been exacerbated by COVID-19. A.G. Rhodes Care Solutions helps fill in workforce gaps with an internal team of compassionate, trained staff, while decreasing the organization's reliance on external staffing agencies.

"Our workforce is the foundation of our organization, and we are continuously exploring ways to recruit and retain exceptional staff," said Mary Helton, A.G. Rhodes Chief Human Resources Officer. "A.G. Rhodes Care Solutions is a good opportunity for nursing professionals seeking positions outside of the more traditional full-time and part-time roles."

OUR ONGOING COMMITMENT TO PERSON-DIRECTED CARE

Several years ago, A.G. Rhodes began improving its model of care by adopting a person-directed approach to senior care, which is the kind of care that we all want for our loved ones and for ourselves as we age.

Person-directed care means that we frame our delivery of care according to the unique needs and preferences of each elder. It means that in addition to prioritizing high-quality care, we equally prioritize an environment that promotes an exceptional quality of life. Here are a few updates to highlight our ongoing commitment to person-directed care.

Another Dream Fulfilled

A.G. Rhodes teamed up again with Second Wind Dreams to fulfill a dream for one of our elders. David Waters, a resident at A.G. Rhodes Cobb, is a huge sports fan and has long dreamed of going to an Atlanta United Game. He not only got to attend, but he enjoyed the game from the comfort of the Gullwing Club Suite. We appreciate our strong partnership with Second Wind Dreams in helping make yet another elder's dreams come true.

A.G. Rhodes Participates in National Movement to Improve Nursing Homes

Several representatives from A.G. Rhodes are among more than 120 stakeholders and organizations that are part of a national movement – called the Moving Forward Coalition – to improve the quality of nursing home life for residents and staff across the United States. The Coalition's efforts demonstrate a serious commitment to addressing challenges that nursing homes have faced for years, and A.G. Rhodes is representing nursing homes across the country advocating for positive changes.

"We need diverse voices representing all who are impacted by nursing home care," said A.G. Rhodes CEO Deke Cateau, who serves on the Coalition's Steering Committee. "Our collective expertise and experiences are what's going to ultimately improve the quality, safety, and experience for those living and working in our nation's nursing homes."

Onsite Dialysis Clinic Supports Improved Care and Quality of Life

Through a collaboration with DaVita Kidney Care, our Atlanta and Wesley Woods homes opened onsite dialysis clinics which promote better care and a better quality of life for residents who will no longer have to miss favorite activities or other scheduled events due to offsite treatments. It eliminates complicated transportation and other logistics that are disruptive to the resident's day, and it's more convenient for residents and staff.

Atlanta resident, Alice Isreal, has been at A.G. Rhodes for six years and on dialysis for 19 years. She describes the new onsite dialysis clinic as "heaven sent" and is so thankful that she does not have to go out in bad weather or sit in a cramped van to get to her appointments three times a week. She says, "It's wonderful and beautiful" and we couldn't agree more!

Variety is the Spice of Life

Activities vary in each of the A.G. Rhodes communities because elder preferences and interests vary. A.G. Rhodes Atlanta, for example, has several residents interested in dancing who attend weekly dance classes at a local studio that offers free classes for seniors. At A.G. Rhodes Wesley Woods, elders who like pets benefit from volunteers who bring their pets to visit. At A.G. Rhodes Cobb, elders have led the charge in organizing evening activities such as praise and worship, and trivia and movie nights.

Sonya Williams, A.G. Rhodes Care Partner who helps the organization implement person-directed care, said, "Ultimately, we want elders to find meaning in the things they're doing, so this means learning more about what they want and involving them in creating those opportunities. We know we have limitations, but we've demonstrated that we can do a lot with what we have to improve life at A.G. Rhodes."

Unique Service Camp Connects Elders & Teens

Our Generation Connect service camp held over the summer at A.G. Rhodes Atlanta was a big hit! Offered in partnership with Pebble Tossers – a youth development nonprofit organization – the week-long camp gave elders and teens a unique opportunity to build and strengthen connections between their generations. Teens gained a greater appreciation of aging-related issues, they conducted oral histories with elders to learn more about their pasts, and teens and elders bonded during various activities.

Ms. Washington Hits the Big Apple

In 2022, Marilyn Washington, a resident at A.G. Rhodes Atlanta, was surprised with a party from TaleGate, a storytelling group that travels across the country to collect and share unique stories from older adults.

But the surprises didn't stop there.

In talking with TaleGate founder Jack York, Ms. Washington mentioned that she would love to travel to New York again. She had fond memories from traveling there when she was a flight attendant with Delta, and she got married there.

Jack made it happen. In July, he escorted Ms. Washington, along with members of her family and A.G. Rhodes staff, to New York City.

"She lit up the Big Apple with her smile and laughter. She has limitless energy, never turning down another stop in Manhattan; she soaked it all in. It was a fun time for her, and a reflective time as well, reminiscing about her earlier visits to New York at the early stages of her remarkable life."

– Jack York, TaleGate founder

OUR ONGOING COMMITMENT TO PERSON-DIRECTED CARE

Innovative Programming

Residents continue to reap the significant therapeutic benefits of our Horticultural Therapy and Music Therapy programs which grow in popularity each year. Music Therapy Director John Abel and Horticultural Therapy Kirk Hines are frequent spokespeople for media opportunities and various events, and they also collaborate with other healthcare providers, universities, and more to advance innovative approaches to care.

Meet Sprout: The Horticultural Therapy Robot

A group of Georgia Tech students called "The Green Team" partnered with A.G. Rhodes to demo Sprout, the horticultural therapy robot they created for their healthcare robotics class project. The team designed Sprout to help older adults with mobility issues care for their plants. The students demoed Sprout at A.G. Rhodes' Atlanta and Wesley Woods locations and collected feedback from the residents.

"The residents provided valuable feedback including their opinions of the robot, how they would benefit from it, and additions they would like it to have including the ability to move plants to adjust for sunlight and to intelligently water plants using a moisture sensor," said team member Joshua. He added, "This feedback was very helpful in understanding the impact the robot may have on the residents and how it could be improved!"

The Critical Role of Volunteers

Volunteers are integral to the happiness and well-being of our elders, and to our person-directed care efforts. We simply could not provide the variety of meaningful activities and programs we do without them. We are so grateful that we've been able to resume most in-person volunteer activities, and a few are highlighted here.

BECOME A VOLUNTEER

You might be surprised at all the important ways our volunteers impact our communities, and we love when volunteers bring their ideas and talents to us!

Line dancers: We love our line dancing volunteers.

Bingo: Volunteers make BINGO more fun.

GAgives Day on Giving Tuesday

On Tuesday, Nov. 28, people across the nation kicked off the holiday season and took part in Giving Tuesday, a day of giving and celebrating the spirit of generosity. GAgives Day is our statewide day of giving that falls on Giving Tuesday, and A.G. Rhodes raised money to support our Horticultural Therapy Seeds for Seniors program. This program brings the joy and therapeutic benefits of gardening to our residents.

Horticultural Therapy Director Kirk Hines and CEO Deke Cateau appeared on 11Alive's Atlanta & Company to promote and garner support for GAgives Day. Thank you to all who donated and for helping us provide the gift of nature to our residents!
