Message from the Chair of the Board of Trustees and the CEO

Dear Friends,

We've made great strides this year in continuing to transform our model of care to one that better meets the needs and desires of our aging population. We're proud that A.G. Rhodes became one of the first organizations in the state to embrace a person-directed approach to elder care, and we continue to demonstrate the importance and effectiveness of this model in the A.G. Rhodes communities.

Our focus on person-directed care has been an incredibly significant and positive change for us. While our core mission hasn't changed, the way we're delivering our services has evolved and improved. To reflect the progress we've made – and continue to make – we recently went through a rebranding process, resulting in a new logo and tagline for the organization.

Our new logo incorporates a segmented heart which is subtly divided into three sections to represent three foundations of our brand and our tagline: community, wellness, care. At A.G. Rhodes, we facilitate a strong sense of community among our elders, their families, employee care partners, volunteers, and donors like you. We promote overall wellness through our innovative programming, state-of-the-art therapy and rehabilitation services, and diverse activities and events. And we have a strong reputation for the exceptional care that we provide and have provided for 115 years.

Quite fitting, this new tagline is the heart of who we are and what we do, and we hope you enjoy the many examples of community, wellness and care throughout this report.

Sincerely,

David L. Perdue, Chair, Board of Trustees

Deke G. Cateau, Chief Executive Officer

A.G. Rhodes was privileged to participate in the documentary Revolutionizing Dementia Care, released in November 2018. A production of Virginia Public Media in partnership with the Dementia Action Alliance – and in collaboration with numerous national and state organizations – the 60-minute program explores how people living with dementia can still live a full and meaningful life based on their abilities, not disabilities.

More than 50 million people in the world are living with dementia, and over 5.7 million people in the U.S. have been diagnosed with some form of dementia. The need for innovative approaches to caring for those living with dementia is clearly evident.

"Well-being is beyond physical care. It's social and emotional and spiritual."

– JACKIE PINKOWITZ, BOARD CHAIR, DEMENTIA ACTION ALLIANCE

Improvements in the well-being of memory care residents have been realized when they are included, engaged and supported in social gatherings, clubs and everyday activities. Here at A.G. Rhodes, with a foundation of person-directed care, we are dedicated to giving people living with dementia the individual heartfelt care they need and deserve.

"At A.G. Rhodes, we want to bring the 'home' back into the nursing home… with a home-like experience, environment and care."

– DEKE CATEAU, A.G. RHODES CEO

Volunteers

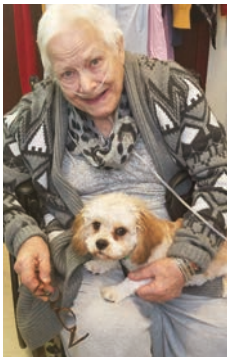

Staff members at all three A.G. Rhodes communities are extremely grateful for the service of our dedicated volunteers. Volunteers served nearly 7,000 hours filling more than 3,300 volunteer opportunities with our elders, providing companionship, fun, care and love.

Amazing community volunteers gave of their time and energy for numerous service activities, including help in our therapeutic gardens by Youth Villages AmeriCorps, pet therapy visits by Furkids Animal Rescue and Shelters, property clean-up at our Atlanta community by employees from Triage Consulting Group, singers from Mercy Mission Atlanta Volunteer Group who entertained residents and staff at our Wesley Woods community, handmade sweet candy stockings from student volunteers at Breakthrough Atlanta, gift delivery for our Angel Tree and blankets for our elders from employees at The Home Depot, employees from Georgia-Pacific who volunteered help with landscape improvements in the Courtyard Garden at our Atlanta community, and many more.

In April, to coincide with National Volunteer Week, we held volunteer celebrations and featured several individuals, and expressed gratitude for all the groups and individuals who enrich the lives of our residents throughout the year.

"In this life, we cannot always do great things. But we can do small things with great love."

– MOTHER TERESA

Doug Jones runs the cooking club at our Cobb community. He cooks meals that range from a wide variety of foods, and prepares everything from breakfast dishes to soups to entrées and desserts. He tries to keep his dishes topical to the season. Some of the residents' favorites include his Irish soda bread around St. Patrick's Day, his hazelnut chicken – which is one of his lifetime specialties – peppermint bark dip around Christmas time, crab with dill and cayenne toast as a brunch dish, pumpkin fritters with caramel sauce in the fall, and Biscoff Ritz cookies around Valentine's Day.

"I love being able to spend time with residents and listen to their stories. I enjoy cooking dishes for them that they otherwise wouldn't eat, and I also like building lasting relationships."

"It's so gratifying and satisfying to me to see the ladies smile and light up as the Cadets interact with them. It's been a great 10-year partnership and it will definitely continue."

Army Sgt. Maj. Charlie Turner (and the Maynard Jackson HS JROTC): After retiring from active duty Army in 2009, Sgt. Maj. Charlie Turner began working for the Atlanta Public School system and for 10 years brought Cadets from Maynard Jackson High School JROTC to participate and volunteer at one of A.G. Rhodes of Atlanta's most popular events, the Ms. A.G. Rhodes pageant. March's pageant was Sgt. Maj. Turner's last before he retired from Atlanta Public Schools and we deeply appreciation the support from the JROTC for so many years.

"I have lived in the neighborhood by A.G. Rhodes for 16 years. When my grandmother passed away in 2017, it became instantly clear that (because) she brought so much wisdom and grace to my life, it was important for me to connect with elders in my community and continue that intergenerational joy-sharing."

Laura Barton volunteers with the Horticultural and Music Therapy Programs at our Atlanta community.

"My favorite part about volunteering at A.G. Rhodes are the smiles that light up the elders' faces when we sing together. I think the elders see that I bring a consistent warmth and light each week. Before each group I make a point to go around to each person, make eye contact, and say their first name. I feel such a sense of gratitude by laughing and smiling with each of them in these simple moments. They are truly the most interesting and cool people I have the honor of spending time with!"

"I encourage anyone, at any age, to volunteer to work with our seniors. In today's society, with everyone so stressed and preoccupied, it's easy to let time fly by. Slow down, step outside of yourself and your distractions, and take time to listen and learn from others that really have so many gifts to offer. A story, a smile, a laugh that's shared, has a lasting positive effect on both the person you're visiting and on you. I often say that volunteering at A.G. Rhodes feels a little self-serving because it just makes you feel so good!"

Kim Cleary volunteers with the Lay Ministry at Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church and shares the Eucharist with Catholic residents at our Wesley Woods community.

"Serving at A.G. Rhodes is an experience that I will always carry with me. Faith runs so deep, that despite severe illness, mental and/or physical, people remember The Lord's Prayer and Hail Mary. It's a commonality that's comforting and you can see it on people's faces while you're praying together and feel it in your own heart. It's truly faith in motion!"

Generation Connect

A program that promotes intergenerational relationships between youth and elders

In partnership with Pebble Tossers, a nonprofit youth development organization, A.G. Rhodes Cobb hosted the inaugural Generation Connect Service Camp in June 2019. The week-long program gave rising ninth through twelfth graders an educational and fun opportunity to engage in meaningful service to our elders and learn important life skills.

Participants also earned service hours toward school graduation or club requirements, gained leadership skills, learned about various health care careers, made new friends and had fun! The campers reflected on the experience, recalling that they discovered how much they have in common with our elders, how easy it was to relate, and how much life is left to live. Information about the 2020 Generation Connect Service Camp will be available in the spring of 2020. Visit www.agrhodes.org/generationconnect-service-camp to learn more.

For more information on how you can volunteer with A.G. Rhodes, contact:

"The biggest thing I learned was that even though we are all parts of different generations, we aren't very different from each other after all."

"When educating the minds of our youth, we must not forget to educate their hearts." – DALAI LAMA

Partnership in Caring: Aegis Therapies®

In the summer of 2018, A.G. Rhodes teamed up with Aegis Therapies® to provide inpatient and outpatient therapy and rehabilitation services for our residents. For more than 20 years, Aegis has been a national leader in rehabilitation and wellness services, helping individuals and their families restore their independence and achieve their greatest recovery potential.

"Bringing in a specialized company like Aegis ensures that we have adequate resources and training to deliver the best possible care to our elders receiving therapy and rehabilitation services," said Deke Cateau, A.G. Rhodes CEO. "Aegis has a great reputation, and they understand our strong, family-oriented culture."

"We look forward to continued successes as both Aegis and A.G. Rhodes work together to deliver exceptional care," said Tammy Paulk, area vice president of Aegis Therapies.

Community Improvements

For more than 1,300 elders each year, A.G. Rhodes is home. With our organization's commitment to person-directed care, we have been intentional in our efforts to enhance the home-like environment for all those we serve. It is not only important to the overall well-being of our residents, but it also gives our staff members a more pleasant work environment.

A.G. Rhodes is making improvements in our three communities, including new flooring, renovated nurse stations, resident room enhancements and landscaping improvements. These efforts go hand in hand with our focus on providing community, wellness and care tailored to the unique needs of our residents and their families.

Rebuilding Together

Individuals from Rebuilding Together Atlanta, UCB and TEAM Buzz came together to work with Kirk Hines, A.G. Rhodes Horticultural Therapist, and others at our Wesley Woods community in a landscape renovation project, creating renewed space for our residents, families and staff. Special thanks to Southern Trillium LLC for the landscape design and help in leading the volunteer workday.

Music and Horticultural Therapies

Understanding the critical importance of nurturing one's physical, mental, and spiritual well-being, we are constantly looking for activities and programs to engage our residents. Our Horticultural Therapy and Music Therapy programs, which are available to all our residents, are increasingly successful non-medical approaches to improving health and wellness.

Enhancements Continue

A three-year grant awarded last year from the Molly Blank Fund of The Arthur M. Blank Family Foundation continues to support our Music Therapy Program.

Funds have supported the purchase of equipment and supplies, as well as service enhancements. New rhythm instruments, hand bells, headphones and storage cabinets, and an expanded iTunes library, are among the realized benefits for our residents. We have also secured services from an additional music therapist to allow for more individual therapy sessions with residents.

Harmonious Partnership

A.G. Rhodes and SimpleC have been working together to further refine the impact music has to improve clinical outcomes. Music is delivered in Music Therapy sessions, through the Songs for Seniors program and via SimpleC Companion, which is a touch-screen application that promotes memory, engagement and better communication. Companions are in many of the rooms at our Cobb community.

Getting Noticed

In the spring of 2019, local media took notice of the great things happening in our Music and Horticultural Therapy Programs. FOX5 Atlanta's Beth Galvin featured both programs, and WSB-TV's People 2 People aired a Horticultural Therapy feature. You can access the segments on our YouTube channel at www.YouTube.com/AGRhodesHealthRehab.

"The human response allows us to relax, recover from stress, and/or decrease anxiety and depression. Working in horticulture helps to decrease isolation, loneliness and boredom. It really gives a sense of purpose to do something creative and hands-on."

– KIRK HINES,
REGISTERED HORTICULTURAL THERAPIST, one of only four (registered therapists) in Georgia

Trader Joe's donations

Our friends at the Trader Joe's Midtown/Atlanta location graciously donate flowers to our communities each week. Residents work to repurpose the flowers, making beautiful arrangements for display in our communties.

Reflecting on horticultural therapy, Cynthia Fleetwood, A.G. Rhodes resident, shared that, "It makes me feel alive! It just wouldn't be living if I didn't learn something new!"

Crowning Ms. A.G. Rhodes

Betty Buell was crowned Ms. A.G. Rhodes Cobb 2019. A special thanks to Alexis Gilomen, Miss Cobb County, who served as emcee for the pageant.

Congratulations to Doris Hardy, who was named Ms. A.G. Rhodes Atlanta 2019. A special thanks to our emcee, Jocelyn Dorsey, a member of our Board of Advisors and former WSB-TV journalist and broadcast manager, and thanks to the Maynard Jackson High School Junior ROTC for escorting our contestants.

Thank you to all our volunteers and judges, including members of our Board of Advisors, who help make the A.G. Rhodes pageants a success each year.

Profiles of Positive Aging

Congratulations to A.G. Rhodes resident Frances Thrasher who was honored at the 2018 Profiles of Positive Aging Gala. The program honored nearly 20 metro Atlanta elders making a difference in the community. At 97-years-young, Ms. Thrasher is an inspiration to us all.

LifePlus features A.G. Rhodes

LifePlus on AIB Network featured A.G. Rhodes while exploring the difficult decision to move a loved one to a nursing home or other senior living community, as well as the choices therein, to help families navigate the journey. The AIB Network develops and distributes original content and actively supports and recognizes nonprofit and faith-based organizations. Leadership Updates

This past year we welcomed Keith Wilson as our new Chief Operating Officer. Keith brings a wealth of long-term care experience, and we're excited he's joined our team.

Congratulations to Deke Cateau, CEO, on his appointment to the Eden Alternative Board of Directors. The Eden Alternative is an international, nonprofit organization that provides education and consultation for organizations across the entire continuum of care. With its person-directed care philosophy, it is dedicated to creating care environments that promote quality of life for elders and their care partners, leading to improved quality of care and higher rates of satisfaction. We've been a proud partner with The Eden Alternative for a few years, embracing its person-directed care education and training.

In 2019, Deke also graduated from Leadership Atlanta, a prestigious program that includes a select number of established leaders who are chosen each year to represent a broad cross-section of metro Atlanta. As one of the oldest sustained community leadership programs in the nation, Leadership Atlanta connects and inspires leaders to strengthen metro Atlanta's communities.

"It is a failure of the imagination when we can't appreciate what even our Elders living with frailty have to offer us. This is our challenge – to find ways for ALL to give as well as receive – no matter how subtle, no matter what their challenges may be."

– DR. BILL THOMAS, CO-FOUNDER OF THE EDEN ALTERNATIVE

Community Support

TEGNA Foundation Grant

A 2018 grant awarded to A.G. Rhodes by the TEGNA Foundation is being used to enhance the quality of life for those who stay with us. Through its Community Grant program, TEGNA Foundation serves the greater good of its communities by supporting local nonprofit organizations. TEGNA Inc. owns Atlanta's 11Alive.

Kids Boost

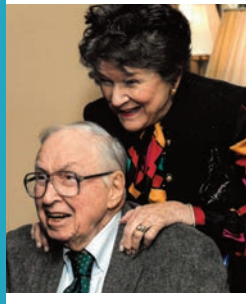

For the second year in a row, we were the recipient of a Kids Boost donation. Kids Boost facilitates fundraising projects organized by kids to raise money for causes they care about. Thanks to a fundraiser Hannah organized, money was raised to support our Activities Departments.

Living Well Luncheon

More than 200 people attended the fourth annual Living Well Luncheon, hosted by the A.G. Rhodes Board of Advisors.

The guest speaker was Dr. John Zeisel, an internationally known expert on dementia care and treatment innovations, and the author of I'm Still Here: A New Philosophy of Alzheimer's Care.

The event honored Martha M. Pentecost and her late husband, Dr. Mark P. Pentecost Jr., longtime volunteers and supporters of A.G. Rhodes. Dr. Pentecost served on the Board of Trustees for more than 50 years and Mrs. Pentecost served on the Board of Managers – now called Board of Advisors – for 50 years before becoming an honorary member. The Pentecosts paved the way for A.G. Rhodes to progress in many areas of aging services, and Mrs. Pentecost's continued support furthers the mission today.

Event proceeds benefit the transformation of patio space at our Wesley Woods community into a horticultural therapy garden specifically designed for people living with dementia. Planning and design are underway, and we are excited about the future therapeutic experiences that will take place in the garden.
